Is a bad combination after an hour's struggle! But it is nothing to the condition you will be in if you should purchase

WALL PAPER

This Spring without looking over the stock at

FRANK SMITH'S

When you go into the house of your neighbor who did purchase there and get the most beautiful patterns and save money too, you will feel as though your head was a block and 13, 15, 14, a fixed fact!

You will see it stamped all over your walls, and it may lead to lunacy. But this sad fate need not be yours! FRANK SMITH has purchased enough of those Beautiful Goods so that all can enjoy them.

Be wise and avoid the terrible 13, 15, 14! If you want your money's worth, and the right thing every time, go to

Frank Smith's EMPORIUM.

We saw and had a nice chat with Rev. Geo. P. Tindall at Rice Hotel in Detroit Monday. Br. Tindall is looking rugged having spent a few days rusticating at the Chautauqua of Michigan, Orian Lake. He likes his field of labor at Flint, very much.

Mr. W. G. Vinton, who purchased the Laible superb residence on Forest ave. east, is about to remove to Detroit. He says that at the end of a couple of years he proposes to make the place his permanent home. Mr. Gross who now resides on Mr. Hendrick's farm will occupy it.

The lowering sky, the falling rain, was any thing but encourageing for the M. E. Sunday School excursion Wednesday morning. But Methodist pluck stood the folks little and big well in hand and four crowded car loads went to Watkins grove on the D. H. & S. W. R. R. They report a nice and an agreeable time.

The following item is worth consideration:

"A patron of a newspaper said to the publisher: 'How is it that you never call on me for pay for your paper?' 'Oh,' said the editor 'we never ask a gentleman for money.'

'Indeed,' replied the patron, 'how do you manage to get along when they don't pay?'

'Why,' said the editor, 'after a certain time we conclude he is not a gentleman, and then we ask him,"

"Oh, yes, I see Mr. Editor, please give me a receipt. Make my name right on your books; that is, put it down among the gentlemen.'"

We have the Premium lists of the Washtenaw Annual Fair at Ann Arbor Sept. 28 to Oct. 1st, inclusive. What especially attracts our attention is the large list of advertisers. Ann Arbor business men know on which side their bread is buttered. It is printed by the Register.

Tuesday Mr. Tann, of Cass County called at the office. Evidently a talented gentleman. He alleges some pretty hard things against the man who made such a fuss about Butler and the shaving. He alleges that this man is an embezler and was on his way to Canada. He says Butler did right.

Dr. A. T. Pierson, who has been for some time soliciting funds for the Kalamazoo Female Seminary, writes that, "Every dollar of debt has been secured and arrangements made for the prompt payment of all obligations. So that we open Sept. 2d, without debt, with Miss Cornelia Eddy, a most accomplished lady and teacher as principal, a full corps of assistants and the promise of equipment in apparatus, etc., etc. J. M. R.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Richmond had a narrow escape this week. Riding out beyond Emerlek's, they heard shouting behind them, and looking around saw a man with a double team, drunk and rolling from side to side in his seat, driving at Jehu rate. Noticing that he was on one side the street, Mr. R. made for the other, as near the fence as possible, when, lo! the drunken driver steered directly for him, and went past slightly grazing his buggy.

The late Rev. Wm. Platt, pastor of the Congregational church at Utica, and who recently died in this city, was in many respects a remarkable man, a pioneer minister of the gospel. He was twice pastor at Utica in pioneer days and at the time of his death. The fruits of his labor are visible in Lapeer, Lodi, this county, Maple Rapids and Utica. He possessed a peculiar, loveable character. The image of Christ shone in his daily life. Truly it can be said of him as of many other eminent servants of God, "They rest from their labors, and their works do follow them.

If one wishes to read a book that will give rest and not weariness, that leaves a sense of peace and not of contest, let him read "My Neighbor; With other pieces." by Thomas D. James, which has just been issued by the publishing house of Carter & Brothers. With out any effort for tragic effect or thrilling adventure. These forgotten pieces which are now first collected in a permanent form, show the beauty and charm of common things and of every day life. The simple lesson to be learned from "Happy Jennie." and the support given to courage and hope by "Noon Beyond" are worth many times the price of the book.

The weather this week has not been most propitious for picnics, but those who were not scared out by the signs of rain have enjoyed themselves. The York Sunday School gathered at Chas. Wheeler's grove Thursday and had a regular old fashioned basket picnic. An invitation had been extended to the neighboring Sunday schools, but none responded with the exception of the Mooreville school, which contributed a load of "good looking" girls. The usual amount of singing and speaking. The enterprising officer of the school had moved the organ and chairs, appropriate mottos etc. to the grove. The platform looked like an arbor. The people of York do not do things by halves.

LIQUOR CRAZY.—A young man by the name of French, from Tyler street, east of Belleville, was so silly as to imbibe, Thursday, at the saloons. About six o'clock, with a friend in pursuit, hatless, he tried to enter the parlor of the Barton House. Being headed off, he ran to the rear of the M. E. church, and so around to Curtis' shop, and thence to the nearest woods, where he remained until three o'clock the next morning. Being sobered down he then got his horse and buggy and left for home, we hope a wiser man. What is the use, young man, of playing the fool? Play the man. "Touch not, taste not, handle not."

Warm weather does not seem to affect the "horny handed husbandman." The Grange room was crowded last Monday evening, to hear W. A. Armstrong, master of the State Grange of New York. He is a practical farmer, and is known as editor of the Husbandman. The aim of his lecture was to show farmers the necesity of having respect for their calling and their duty in regard to the matter of representation. He pointed out the danger which threatened the farmers if they did not look after their interests in that respect. He spoke in a conversational tone and held the attention of the audience. He was followed by Col. Halloway of Hillsdale, who in a brief speech seconded the benefits of the Grange. State Lecturer, Whitney also spoke briefly, and gave encouraging reports of the prosperity of the Michigan Grange. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Richmond, who also pronounced the benediction. Thanks of the Grange were extended to the speaker and also to the band, who adjourned their regular practice that evening on account of the lecture.

THE EXCURSION TO WATKINS.—The Methodist church and Sunday school, filling to their utmost capacity four cars, took an excursion to Mr. Watkins' grounds on Wednesday last. Notwithstanding that the day was somewhat wet and the clouds were threatening, yet the excursion was a very pleasant affair. It could not be otherwise, enjoying Mr. Watkins' free and liberal hospitality. He is a man of princely generosity. In order to shorten the distance between the cars and the grove as much as possible for the children, he cut a road some distance through his cornfield, and then furnished two teams to convey as many of the people as he might be able back and forth from the cars to the grove, obtaining for this purpose the band wagon from Manchester. But what especially interested the children was the gratuitous (everything was gratuitous) supply of several bushels of fine peaches. While the children could dispense the peaches, the farmers that were along were most interested in Mr. Watkins' barns and farm buildings and in his talk concerning various matters interesting to farmers, from peach raising to fine sheep. He has over 1,000 acres of land, and a more successful and intelligent farmer it would be difficult to find in the State. All the excursionists were loud in his praise. We commend other parties to his generous treatment.

WASHBURN.

We heard the other day from a fellow prisoner, how Frank Jones, happened to escape from the county jail. We give it as it is told to us:

Jones was a desperate character, but was also a good hand at cleaning harness. He was taken out to the barn for this purpose by the turnkey several mornings. The morning of his escape he was left in the barn alone while Ed. Warren was engaged at something else for a few moments. Jones improved the opportunity, skipped, and has not been heard of since. How blameless are the democratic office holders of Washtenaw.

A few weeks since we tried to give our readers an idea of the bad condition of the cells in the lock-up. We do not take a word of it back but if the story of prisoners can be relied upon the county jail is so much worse that we have no right to complain. The prisioners here at least get wholesome food and enough of it. Those who have been so unfortunate as to be confined at Ann Arbor say that the food will ruin any ordinary stomach in a few days. One who has recently been there is ready to swear to the following bill of fare: Breakfast—Potatoes, rusty pork, bread, bad coffee; Dinner—Soup and rusty pork, potatoes, bread; Supper—mush, made of raw meat and salt.

The bread he says was always heavy and sour. Beet tops and turnips mixed with sand are dished up for greens.

Now we do not believe in taxing the county to feed criminals sumptuously, but if we are correctly informed, the county pays for each prisoner's board at the rate of $4.00 a week. This ought to pay for something besides meat so full of maggots that they crawl on the table. Is the report true? If the jail had been under Republican rule what a howl would have been raised long before this.

PERSONALS.

The wanderers are returning home.

Mr. Joseph Bickford has returned from his tour of Dokota territory.

Mrs. F. W. Cleveland will please accept our thanks for a beautiful Garfield and Arthur boquett, an omen of victory.

Mrs. A. Vancleve with her two children is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ralph Van Fossen.

We have from the LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York their reprint of the London Quattery Review for July.

The principal contents are: "The First Lord Minto;" "Middlesex," a discription of the county, with many historical and personal reminiscences; "Thomas Chatterson," a well written sketch of his life, in which, however, he is represented as the victim or his own illregulated passions; "Recent and Future Arctic Voyages;" "Marie-Antoinette," a review of two recent works which portray the unfortunate Queen as she really was; "The Universities and their Critics;" and "Around the World with General Grant." an outline of General Grant's military career, with many quotations from the work under review, accompained with favorable comments and giving high honor to the General for his honesty of purpose, comprehensiveness of view, firmness, capacity, and good sense.

The same publishers have also just issued their reprint of the Westminister review for July, in which we note the following articles: "Scotch Peerage," explaining the conditions under which the Scotch representative peerage exists; "The Place of Socrates in Greek Philosophy," a very careful survey of the life and philosophy of Socrates; "The Peasant-Poets of Russia," full of biographical sketches and poetical extracts; "Marriage with a deceased Wife's Sister," a strong argument for its sanction by legislative enactment; "The Life of Prince Consort;" "Game Laws and Game Preserving;" "State Papers—Foreign Series;" "A new view of the Indian Exchange Difficulty;" "India and our Colonial Empire;" and Comtemporary Literature."

The periodicals reprinted by THE LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING Co. (41 Barclay Street, N. Y.) are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminister, and Brittish Quarterly Reaiews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

COL. BEARD, AT LIGHT GUARD HALL

Wednesday evening, gave one of the very best political addresses we ever listened to. It was complete, eloquent and telling. The frequent applause upon the the part of the audience demonstrated its power. His graphic history of the democratic party was so true to the picture.

In all the period of 25 years back to the present moment not a single record which any democrat can be proud of. He presented the wonerrful clemency of the Republican party to traitors in arms, and in return their base ingratitude. His account, and he speaks by personal knowledge, of the methods of bulldozing by which the republican voter in the south is defrauded, was telling and his denunciation a searching one. A curious fact that thousands of dollars are expended in demanding redress of wrong done to an obscure American abroad, but a citizen in a portion of our country can be defrauded of his ballot, mercilessly shot down and no notice taken of it. The issue of this campaign, "shall every citizen of this republicbe protected in his civil rights." The country cannot long remain half free and half bulldozed." He predicted the election of Garfield and Arthur by a solid North. A pleasant feature is the campaign club, organized by the energetic chairman of the city committee Dr. Hall. They sung "The Red, White, and Blue." The platform and walls were decorated with national flags and the desk was fragrant with flowers.

Next Wednesday evening there will be a general experience meeting at the club room, Post's building, rear of south side Congress street.

The following itemized bill of damages has been settled at $160. See Concil proceedings:

SPECIAL PREMIUM.—We wish to call the attention of our readers, and especially of the butter makers among our lady readers, to a very handsome piece of silver ware, viz: a Combinaeion Caater and Fruit Bowl, which our enterprising crockery merchants, Littlefield & Weeks, purpose offering as a special premium for the best six-gallon crock of butter exhibited at the coming Fair, to be held at Ypsilanti Sept. 21–24. The castes is of best quality of metal, triple silver plate, and is valued at $25.00. Littlefield & Weeks have this caster displayed on their showcase, and it is attracting a great deal of attention. It certainly is a handsome present for any one to own. Call at their place and see it. 858–4t

A Queer Notion.

Many people think it cheaper to buy 25 cent sizes of a proprietary medicine. But they make a mistake. For instance, Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry contains about eight times the quantity of ordinary 25 cent balsams. Becides it takes a less quantity of Wistar's Balsam to cure a cold. A single dose is often sufficient. For deep seated Colds and comsumption it has proven itself to be the best and quickest cure ever discovered. 845 1 yr.

—"The World's Fair" is now open on Washington street, in rear of Union block. It is an attractive place for any one in want of any kind of novelty or useful article. Also flour and feed and all kinds of grain will be for sale. Goods delivered to any part of the city. Also, general dime express office. Go and see, any way. Charley Carr, Manager.

EXCURSIONS TO DETROIT.—Many have been given this summer and many more will be given. We think that every one when in a city of the size of Detroit should make use of their opportunities and study the different large establishments, go through them and become somewhat acquainted. This is one of the best ways to beome educated—to look about you. We would call your attention to the mammoth dry goods stores of Freedman Bros & Co., in this connection. You should not fail to visit them. You will be treated courteously and if you do not wish to buy, no matter.

EDITORIAL NOTES,

COMMERCIAL 25 cents to Dec. 1st, 1880.

W. H. Walby, of Adrian, is the man Willits will clean out this year.

Geo. W. Webber is the Republican candidate for Congress in the 5th Dist.

Sen. Baldwin is giving us a grand campaign—one of old Zack. Chandler's that worsted the Democracy every time.

There is to be a grand convention of campaign clubs of Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and other states at Indianapolis Sept. 15th.

The Kent Co. Democratic Convention broke up in a row. Four township delegations of decent farmers say that they "have got through with this mob.

C. S. Pitkin has a strong article in the Detroit Lever, favoring a temperance state convention in order to consolidate the entire temperance sentiment in favor of the amendments.

Judging from the elaborate description. The Lansing Republican is just housed in a new office built for its especial use by the proprietor. and one of the nicest and most convenient in the State. We congratulate Bro. George.

We are soon to have a new translation of the Bible, revised and translated by authorized representatives of all the protestant denominations in this country and in England—the learned scholars, laymen, and divines.

One of the most fearful things during the civil was the attempt of the Knights of the Golden Circle, all Democrats, to murder Ex-Governor Morton and surrender the state government of Indiana into the hands of the rebels. It was a secret, oath-bound, military organization. It numbered more than 100,000 men in Indiana. Its banner was the rebel flag.

In Harper's this week, Nast loads Hancock down with a mighty big burden—Ku-Klux, Tweed ring frauds, cipher dispatches, naturalization frauds, "peace at any price" during the war, New York riots; tissue ballots and shot guns in Alabama. How poor Hancock is tugging—"UP-HILL WORK."

One of the results of Dr. Tanner's fast is the loss of all his teeth. While he was fasting the jaws shrunk from his teeth, and when he began the use of his jaws the motion loosened the gums and at the same time loosened his teeth.

The Alabama election is not over yet. It was a prodigious farce. Bourban Democrats stood over honest voters with clubs and pistols. Do we live in a free country?

The Republican party when in power enacted a safe registration law. The Democrats, true to their instincts as promoters of fraud repeated it and enacted a law that is a leaky sieve, giving ample opportunities to the gigantic frauds perpetrated in the late election. On an honest vote and count the Republicans have at least 25,000 majority in that state.

The northern Democratic press are trying to wriggle out of the following, but the Staunton paper that reported the speech holds their noses to the grindstone. Hampton,s revised version leaves the sentiment precisely the same:

"Consider what Lee and Jackson would do were they alive. THESE ARE THE SAME PRINCIPLES FOR WHICH THEY FOUGHT FOR FOUR YEARS. Remember the men who poured forth their life blood on Virginia's soil, and do not abandon them now. Remember that upon your vote depends the success of the Democratic ticket."—Wade Hampton, at staunton, July 26, 1880.

The Free Press gloats over the idea that the farmers have been wronged by the Republican party. How is this possible when the farmers constitute at least three-fifths of the party? In this part of the state, if a farmer is not the candidate for Congress, no one is to blame but the farmers. The cities were nearly solid for a farmer in this county. But the farmers fought each other and so lost. When the farmers can show enough self-respect to stand by each other, presidents, congressmen, governors and legislators will be largely chosen from the their ranks. But, Mr. Free Press, they are not going to sell their principles to elect a Democratic farmer, like Halloway; always hanging around in order to get an office.

If the chivalrous sons of the South would show half the energy in trying to be honest that they do in keeping alive the "lost cause," we should hear less of debt repudiation and piteous supplications for help.

The pulpit has again asserted its citizenship in a most creditable manner. Rev. Dr. Armitage's sermon, demanding, with the authority of sincerity, that the campaign should be clean, and ordering, in the name of high duty, every citizen to earnestly consider the issues, was an effort worthy our national anniversary. We hope Dr. Armitage's sentiments will ring throughout the land and arouse our citizens into real patriotism. In our mind, the active bully and demagogue of pot house politics is a better spectacle in the national campaign than the emasculated respectability that is too delicate to get out of reach of a cologne bottle, i. e., too "sensitive" to take part in public matters or too cowardly to assert their convictions on matters of common importance.

COUNTY TICKET.

The Courier says of our county ticket, "There is not a poor stick in the list." We put on our glasses and looked over the names. There is Joe. T. Jacobs for senator. All who know him Democratic or Republican concede to him genuine merit for the position. Judge of Probate, Wm. G. De Pew. If any Ypsilantian has doubts go to Chelsea and ask his neighbors.

Sheriff, Irving Yeckley, the popular Supervisor of Ypsilanti town. He will get a huge vote in this section. Erastus N. Gilbert for Register of Deeds. It is enough to be said in his praise that he came near pushing Manly to the wall at the last election and will quite in November. Mr. G. was a soldier and in the late war, and made a noble record.

For County Treasurer, Frederick Fitzmaier, of Freedom. The Courier says:

He is an honest, hard working German farmer, and if he doesn't make a complete turnover in that old democratic stronghold Freedom, then we shall lose our guess."

Everett B. Clark for County Clerk, every Salineite will swear by Mr. Clark. They have known him long and like him. He has been very popular in the position the last two years. The Courier says:

He has attended to the duties of this office in a methodical, business-like manner, and systematized and brought out of disorder the files and papers kept therein. It is worth a great deal besides, to have a man in the clerk's office who can not only give information when desired, but do it in such a manner that it will not lead you to suppose he is conferring a mighty favor, not usually granted to mortals; or if he cannot answer a question doesn't snap you up so short that you have to feel of your self twice to see if you are all there. The people will surely not "freeze out" so efficient a clerk.

Frank Emerick for Prosecuting Attorney. We don't need to say a word in behalf of Mr. E. born and grown up to manhood in our midst. He was elected by a large majority two years ago and after an efficient service of two years the people will say, "hold on good and faithful servant.

For Circuit Court Commissioner, James McMahon is known all over the county and has been for a generation past.

Mr. Fred Hunt, an Ypsilanti boy has done faithful service as he always does in every responsibility he assumes. It will be for the interests of the people to re-elect him.

Coroners, Drs. Breakey and Owen. If they can't tell when a man is laid out cold don't apply to any University professor.

BRAG AND CHEEK.

It would seem that a young man in this city, a printer, Mr. M. T. W., has on hand a controversy with an employe of ours sixteen years ago—Mr. Irving Carrier. It further appears that he wished to drum up some flaw in the character of Mr. C. In other words, he wanted to damage him if possible in reputation. Not being able to ascertain anything derogatory of his character among his neighbors and townsmen, he alleges that he came to our office last spring to see if we knew anything damaging. Inasmuch as we knew nothing except in praise of Mr. C, as a gentleman and a highly esteemed inmate of our household sixteen years ago, though a friend, several years since, said to us that "she had heard—a mere rumor, of the truth of which she knew nothing—that Mr. C. had become habituated to the use of intoxicating liquors."

Upon such a hearsay rumor, and long before the red ribbon reform, this seeker of carrion goes off and pens Mr. C. down as a very wicked, godless wretch; on such a slight peg he hangs his infamous charges. We had not the slightest idea of the object in view, and had entirely forgotten that he ever made such an inquiry as he alleges, supposing that it was merely casual and of no earthly importance to anyone. It may be that this was the time (he was almost daily hanging around our office) that we lectured him for reporting to business men on the street that we had prevented his securing credit abroad; a lying statement, which he was compelled to retract. He says that he "charged us on the street with misrepresentation." As big a falsehood as the statement made to business men, for as meekly as a lamb he inquired if we were not mistaken as to having a conversation about Mr. C., and intimated that we gave Mr. C. a first-class character when he was with us, and since, so far as we knew.

While we are upon this subject, we will say that in our office, proprietor and hands as well, always made large allowances in regard to this young man's brags. His brags of circulation are to be taken with the same large grains of allowance. His statements in regard to Rowell's Directory on circulation of county newspapers is artfully intended to deceive. The COMMERCIAL and the Sentinel, in the order we give them, are the only Ypsilanti papers rated, and the rating gives no sort of an idea of the COMMERCIAL's list as it stands now. January 1st it stood at the head, and it is there now, only a good deal more so. The copies of the Directory for the other offices were sent to us.

It only remains to add that this braggadocio while casting flings at this office was asking favors. Brag and cheek are twin sisters in this case, and it is only on friend Carrier's account, for whom we have ever entertained a high respect, and have seen no reason to change our opinion, that we have penned the above. On no provocation whatever shall we be induced to notice the neighboring youngster again. Only a little less brag. young man, and don't pester this office by your cheek any more than you can possibly help. We wish both parties well, and would advise them to quiet their angry passions.

"Let dogs delight to bark and bite,
For God hath made them so;
Lions and tigers growl and fight,
For 'tis their nature to;

But, children, you should never let
Your angry passions rise,
Your little hands were never made
To tear each other's eyes."

Democratic County Convention, Thursday. A Crane, Ypsilanti, Chairman. The following ticket was nominated:

State Senator—D. G. Rose, of Sharon.
Judge of Probate—W. D. Harriman, of Ann Arbor.
Sheriff—E. W. Wallace, of Saline.
County Clerk—Edward Duffy, of Ann Arbor.
Register of Deeds—M. Servy, of Dexter.
Prosecuting Attorney—C. R. Whitman, Ypsilanti
Treasurer—S. Knapp, Freedom.
Circuit Court Commissioners—Howard Stephenson, Ypsilanti; Patric McKernan, Ann Arbor.
Coroners—Martin Clark, Ann Arbor; Conrad George, M. D. Ann Arbor.
Surveyor—C. S. Woodard.

ABOUT OHIO.

DENNISON O. 1880.

C. R. PATTISON, EDITOR COMMERCIAL:—

As a former resident of Ypsilanti please put me on your list. Last year the Democrats boasted of carrying this state by a majority from 20,000 to anything you please, but when the returns came in they were so thunderstruck they have not recovered from the shock yet. It is not a question of majority with us this year, both as to state and national tickets, but how much shall we have. They have found out to a moral certainty that nominating soldiers on a Democratic platform is a dodge that wont work. It will hold good with the Nation (with a big N) as with the old Buckeye state. Yours Truly

O. C. Wyckoff.

NASBY AS HANCOCK'S DOOR-KEEPER.

We have not taken much to Nasby's style. Sort of played out. But he details the trouble that ensued by defective machinery at Hancock's head quarters equal to his former palmiest efforts.

GOVERNOR'S ISLAND,
(Wich is in the State of Noo York)
August 6, 1380.

The noospapers are full uv an akkount uv Gen. Huncock's faintin in the presence uv tw delegashuns wich called on him.

The troo history uv the case isthis:

We have a electric arangement from the ante-room where I stand to the general's rooms. There are 60 keys marked with the states and the shades uv opinyun wich make up the Dimckratic party. Thus, one is marked "Noo York—hard money," onother "Loozeaner—secesh," and so on.

My dooty is to admit only one party at a time to see the general and to notify him in advance wat principles the vistin party perfesses, that our candidate may make no mistakes.

For instanse, ther comes a man from Pennsylvany. It is my duty to find wat his noshuns are on the tariff. I ask him to begin with, how trade is. He ansers, "Bully." Then I say, "how does the present tariff work for you?" He sez, "Bully" wunst more, and then I know all about it. He is interested in manfacters, and is a high tariff man.

Then the matter looks comparatively simple I tetch a key which is marked "Pennsylvany—tariff," and send him into the presence, and Gineral Hancock knows eggsactly wat to say to him, and he sez it and sends him away happy.

Ef the visitor is from Illinoy, and happens to be a free trader, a kee is tetched so labled, and the Gineral also knows wat to say to him.

The same rool applies to all other visitors. We hav as meny keys ez ther are shades ov opinyun in the party. It revuires gigantic intelleck to keep the run uv em, and that is why I okkepy that responsible posishun.

Uv course I make mistakes occasionaly, for no man can keep track of sich diversity uv prinsiple. I did tetch the key marked "War Dimekrat," for a secesh major from Looseaner, and he came out in a towering rage at bin informed by the Gineral that he shood never be satisfied till every man wich bore arms in the confederacy had passed away, that we mite hev peace, and it waz a mistake when Itetched the markt "Confederacy" and sent in a Wisconsin farmer wich hed two sons killed at Antietam. He did not like to be told that Confedrit soljers shood hev the same penshuns ez the northern hirelins, wich invaded the south so brootally.

But the trouble referred to okkurred yesterday. There come a delegashun uv wide hatted men from Maine and Injeany, wich wantid to consuit the Gineral ez to his views on the grate question uv unlimited green bax, and jist at the same minit ther cum a delegashun from the city uv Noo York wich wuz a goin to demand a expreshun ez to honis money.

I insistid that but one delegashun shood go in at a time, and as the Injeany men nearest the door, I tetched the soft money key, and asked 'em in. The hard money men hustled them aside, and thinkin they would pass in first, I tetched the hard money key. This demoralized the Gineral, and to add to the horror uv the accident, they both pushed passed me and rushed in altogether.

Then a scene ensood which baffis descripshen.

"Wat we want to know," sed the spokesman uv the Injeany and Maine delegashun, "is, in the event of your eleckshun, is the kentry to hev onlimited money and consekent prosperity?"

"Wat we want to know," sed the head uv the Noo York delegashun, "is, if the Dimocracy succeeds are we to hev honist money and is the Nashnel debt to be paid ingold?"

The Gineral turned pale and looked at me implorinly. He wuz not ekal to the emergency, but I wuz. I whispered in his ear, "faint," and seezed him in my arms. Takin the hint he drawd a long sigh, and fell out uv his cheer, senselis to all appearance.

"Gentlemen," sed I, "our noble candidate hez been overworked and nacher asserts herself. Will yoo please retire while I bring him to.

They went out and the Gineral got up. "Are they all gone?" he asked.

"They are all gone," sed I.

"There must be a new plan fixed," sed he. I can't keep on faintin in this way till the first uv November. The next time this happens I shel faint in ded earnest, and it will be no sham."

Wat we shel do I don't know. It was sejested that our candidate take an extended European trip, but if he does that we lose the effeckt uv his superb face and figger, which is wat we nominated him fur. Ef we keep him here and utilize that, we run the risk uv having him talked to, wich is fatle.

We hev the matter under consultashun now, but hev not been able to come to eny conclooshen.

I wish to Heaven I cood be keeper for Garfeeld. His man hez a soft thing uv it. The cussid Republikins hev'nt but one set uv opinions and ther ain't no trouble about that. Garseeld's doorkeeper, he sets and admits everybydy, without askin no questions, and hez nothin whatever to do ceptin to say, "walk in, gentlemen." They go in, and Garfeeld talks to all uv 'em, and ther aint no rows and no financeerin, nor no nothin.

It requires more engineerin to be a Dimekrat. We hev to extensive a set uv principles, and hey requiro too grate a straddle to kiver em all. I wish to Heaven the first uv November wuz here. This kind uv thing is altogether too wearin on a not overstrong constitooshen.

PETROLEUM V. NASBY,
(Eggshaustid.)

Ex-Governor Morton thus comments on Hancock's order No. 40:

"I read this order of Gen. Hancock's with unmingled sorrow, and felt he had committed an error more fatal to his reputation than the loss of a battle. Gen. Hancock is a gallant soldier, who has been wounded in the service of his country, but if he shall now lend himself to the support of the principles against which he fought, and become the ally of his enemies against his friends, his laurels, be they ever so bright, will wither "like the tender flower beneath the simoon of the desert."

The men who opposed Grant because he was a military man are now asked to vote for Hancock, not because he ever framed or supported a Democratic measure, but because he is a noted soldier. The men who raised the cry of no military condidate when Garfield was nominated are commanded now to catch steep and declare they always wanted a military leader.

The Democratic party, dispairing of success under the old flag of Bourbonism, hopes to sneak into power under cover of Hancock's military record. Fearing repudiation at the hands of the people the solid south puts forward Hancock just as the anti-war or peace-at-any-price Democrats did McClellan in 1864.

It will not do. Hancock cannot change the spirit of the democratic party. He can not stretch his splendid record as a soldier, as he would a mantle, to cover all the sins of his party, His work at Gettysburg, placed side by side with the Democrats in congress, makes a painful contrast. Principles and motives come to the front and leave the candidate in the rear. The party that nominates him is the party that made the fight against the election laws in congress; is the party that organized the white league and rifle clubs in the south; is the party that bulldozed and disfranchised the colored people in Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina and Louisiana. Hancock may lend himself to the party just as McClellan did, but he cannot alter its record, change its purpose, modify its program, or save it srom defeat. His fame as a Union general weighs little against the domination of men like Wade Hampton, Hamburg, Butler, Ben. Hill, and others of, this class.

The nomination is a weak one, not because the man is not strong in his way, but because the rank and file of the party never have been in sympathy with him, and will not support him. His name will have no talismanic influence among the Bourbon herds in New York city, and will not call out the old golden circle men in Indiana. The fact of his nomination is in the nature of a concession to the strength of the Republican candidate.

President Hayes will leave Washington for the pacific Coast next Thursday. He will be accompanied by his family and General Sherman and family.

There is scarcely a household in the land who will not feel as if they had lost something like a friend on learning that "Old Probabilities" (General Albert J. Myer) is dead.

The total population of Illinois is 3,083,326.

"You are having a splendid dress parade in Vermont. In Maine the fight is actual and bitter! J. G. BLAINE.

The national convention of the independent labor party, held at Pittsburg July 29, nominated Garfield and Arthur for President and Vice President. Fifteen States were represented.

Ex to the nominashen uv Gen. Hancock, wat more cood we want? Wat difference does it make to us who the candidate is? Wat we want is results. I want the postoffis that I may live in comfort and pay wat I owe to the citizens uv the Corners. [Wild cheers.] Issaker Gavitt wants to be Collector, and Capt. M'Pelter wants a place in the Revenoo, and Deekin Pogram wants to be suthin or other, Then the Corners wants Secession Creek slack watered, and a ralerode connecting it with the Suthen Pacific, and a Custom House, and she wants her Suthen soljers pensioned and the losses she sustained made good by the Fedrel Guverment.

When will farmers think and act for themselves? When will they become independent, throwing off the yoke of ignorance and indifference, as well as those of party and leaders? Is there a more proper time than now? If you think you want a Woodman, Holloway, Childs, Divine, Luce, or Carpenter, for Governor or Congress, act, and act together, in your primary meetings, where it is your right and bounden duty to act, to secure the representations of your thoughts in your party—and if your party ignore you and your interests, by thrusting their tools upon you against your wishes, then be independent, ignore the party, teach them a wholesome lesson.—Grange Visitor.

Senators McDonald and Wallace knew better than to investigate the frauds of which their partisans have been guilty in New York city, but owing to false pretenses made in assailing U. S. Marshals, they had to do something. It is but fair to say for them they fled as soon as they could.

A Southern editor, feeling that he might need something for a rainy day, provided the following:

"Hail to the Chief! All hail to the E!
And the Constitution's *rightful reig*N!
Now as the starry emblem flaG
Calls forth a Nation's anthem peaL,
O'er Union that the MississippI
Chains in links of harmonious StateS;
Keep it aloft with proud hurraH!"

Now Mr. English should retire behind his door with the iron skin, draw close the flexible iron shutter, and read with care.

W. P. Olcott threshed thirty bushels of wheat to the acre.

Monday, Aug. 16, will be long remembered by one of our youths, Charlie Briggs. His father, as usual, was in Ann Arbor, and his mother visiting some friends in the country. Charlie thought he would break the tedium by going a hunting. So borrowing a double barreled gun from Frank Tuite and loading it he started forth, like any other boy, in high glee anticipating a good time. But how soon and how rudely his hopes were blasted. In crossing the cattle guard a little north west of Crampton & Reider's carriage factory, the gun slipped between the sleepers striking both hammers and discharging both barrels the loads taking effect in Charlie's left arm above the elbow shattering and carrying away a good part of the bone, leaving the arm attached to the body only by a little skin and muscle. And here Charlie showed his pluck. He received the hurt he grasped his arm just above the wound, thereby preventing the rapid flow of blood which must have caused his death in a few minutes, and started for home. He was soon joined by a crowd of sympathizing friends who assisted him to Dr. Howell's office where the shattered arm was removed. The surgical part of the operation was performed by Dr. Taylor, assisted by Drs. Howell, Lee, Ziegenfuss and Ewing, and not by Dr. Herman of Ann Arbor as published in the Register. Dr. H. did not arrive here till long after the operation was performed, and we are glad right here to say that according to universal testimony Dexter's physicians and sergeons are not behind any in the state. Charlie is now doing well under the care of the family physician, Dr. Howell—Dexter Leader.

A man giving his name as Charley Meyers has been trying to victimize several of our merchants. He had a plausible story and succeeded in getting goods from Brown & Co., August Hutzel, E. J. Johnson and others, and he also obtained a small loan of money from the latter. Herman Hutzel's supicion as to the man's reliability became aroused and discovering that he had secured goods on trust at several other places, and under different names, he determined to have him arrested. Meyers had made arrangements to leave on the afternoon train west, Monday, and Mr. Hutzel only arrived at the depot in time to prevent his departure. He was handed over to the authorities and is now in jail.

Our prospective state senator, Joe T. Jacobs, attended the great soldiers' and sailors' reunion, at Columbus, Ohio, last week. The regiment of which he was adjutant during the war, the 178th Ohio volunteer infantry, held the first meeting of the surviving members for fifteen years, at that time. From the Ohio State Journal we notice that he was made a vice president of the permanent organization.

When there is abundance of wind-falls, or wormy apples, there will always be plenty of cider in the market, so our people may rest assured that this fall will see the cider market glutted. Cider scientists go on the principle that the worms only eat the apple as food, and consequently they make as good cider as the apple itself. And very many people accept that conclusion and swallow the cider, worm juice and all.

The Grand Rapids Evening Post thus compliments one of Washtenaw's citizens: "I think Capt. E. P. Allen, of Washtenaw, was the best orator that spoke from the body of the convention. The Allens seem to be an oratorical family. His brother—a captain, too, by the way, for it is a fighting family, also—is one of the most effective natural orators I ever heard. He is pastor of the Tabernacle Methodist church, Detroit. Bob Ingersoll, even, would admit there is some use of preachers like him. I would go to church on a very hot Sunday to hear him. I heard the secular captain, yesterday for the first time. Hope it will not be the last. He showed an ability to manufacture epigrams off hand. As when he turned on the laughter at his allusion to Beal's modesty with, "True modesty proves what it can do, and is not afraid to try for it." Horr in presenting Jerome said that if he was nominated the friends of other candidates would see the hand of Providence in it in five minutes. The hand of Providence figured largely in subsequent speeches. After the final ballot a Rich man rose up and acknowledged that hand. Then up sprang Allen, for the Beal men: "We, too, see the hand of Providence—and shake. That brought down the house, and kept it down for several minutes."

At Bay City, in the absence of the county clerk, the young man in charge of the office got shook up pretty lively. He unwittingly lit a match in the vault, and there was a gas explosion.

Buchanan, a fraudulent Philadelphia doctor, tried to make believe he was drowned, but turned up with a woman at Windsor. Dr. Thomas, the Ypsilanti cancer * * * seems to be mixed up with this mysterious character. The Detroit papers are out doing each other in tracing out the out-goings and in-comings of this Buchanan.

Gen. Hancock was appointed Gen. Sheridan's successor by the President for the purpose of reviving rhe latter's prostrate "policy," and he earned fully the title of "the Johnson general."

When Grant removed Hancock, Throckmorton, and Heintzleman, a Union man's life, for the first time, was comparatively safe iu the States of Louisiana and Texas. Is it to be wondered at that, in Wade Hampton's words, "The South accepts him?" Judas got "thirty pieces of silver" only. Hancock offers honor, fame, and his hopes of a "department" hereafter.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

TO THE HON. COMMON COUNCIL:

In the matter of the claim of Eugene Laible for alleged damages to sidewalk from the running of velocipedes, I would report, that in my opinion, the city is not liable for any such claim and that the [illegible]

Accep ct. Submitted,

CHAS. R. WHITMAN,
City Attorney.

Accepted and claim tabled.

TO THE HON. COMMON COUNCIL:

In relation to the claims of Ch[illegible] and Richard P. Clements against the City, I would report as follows:

The liability of the City must depend upon certain questions of fact. If the pile of earth and plank over which Clements drove formed a reasonably sufficient barricade, then the City is not liable; otherwise it is, unless he was guilty of contributory negligence.

But whether the excavation was left with proper guard, or covering; or whether Clements contributed by his own negligence to the result, I have not been supplied with sufficient information to enable me to decide. At present I could only give opinion upon a hypothetical case, which would be of little use to the Council.

Dated Aug. 9, 1880.

Respectfully submitted,
CHAS. R. WHITMAN,
City Attorney.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

BY COM. ON STREETS AND WALKS,—

RESOLVED, That the Marshal be and he is hereby instructed to cause a sidewalk six feet in width to be constructed on the south side of Congress street, in front of the residence of Mrs. M. Fogel, within ten days from this date.

Also, a sidewalk four feet in width to be constructed on the south side of Forest Ave., between Hamilton street, and the alley west of Hamilton street, within fifteen days from this date.

Also a sidewalk, six feet in width, to be constructed on the south side of Congress street, in front of the premises of Christian Teufel, within ten days from this date, said walks to comply with the requirements of Section 4, of Ordinance No. 7.

And if any person before whose premises such walks are hereby ordered, shall neglect or refuse to construct such walks within the time specified, it shall be the duty of the Marshal to employ some other person to furnish the materials and construct said walks, at a fair valuation, and report the same, with the account thereof property, attested to this Council for assessment against such premises, with ten per cent, additional.

Adopted.

By Ald. Fraser:—

RESOLVED, That the Mayor be instruced to confer with Messrs Beakes & Cutcheon, in relation to the present status of the suit pending in the Supreme Court of the United States, against the city, and ascertain what their fees will be to bring the case to a conclusion.

Adopted.

Ald. Fraser moved that that the claims of M. F. Clements, and C. L. Clements, be referred to a committee of three and the City Attorney with the view of effecting a settlement. Carried.

Mayor appointed as such committee, City Attorney, Ald. Follmor, Kirk and Fraser.

MOWER.

Don't fail to read the following before purchasing.

Parties in want of a Lawn Mower should not fail to see the NEW BUCKEYE.

A few of its merits are

1. It is about one-third lighter than other mowers in the market.
2. Simplicity, strength, and durability.
3. Ease of working and not liable to get out of order.
4. All parts requiring strength are made of the best quality of iron and cast steel.
5. The gears are so located that it is impossible to clog them with cut grass.
6. The wheels are 7½ inches in diameter, and both drivers, so that it runs lightly and will cut turning either right or left.
7. When drawn backward the ground wheels only reverse motion, consequently is more easily handled.
8. It has three cast steel revolving cutter blades, set at such an angle with the stationary knife, as to give a perfect shear cut.
9. The cutter bar is made of cast steel tempered and is easily adjusted.
10. Has an adjustable roller running the entire width of the machine to regulate the height of cut. See directions.
11. It has adjustable handles and addapts itself to irregularities of the surface.
12. Can sharpen it yourself without going to a repair shop. See directions.
13. It is a perfect "little beauty," being compact, thoroughly made and beautifully finished. In short, it is the most perfect Lawn Mower ever placed udon the market.

Don't fail to ask for the NEW BUCKEYE.

Rheumatism, Rheumatic Pains,

And pain of every description can be permanently cured by using

SPALDING'S LIGHTNING LINAMENT.

Hark all ye who suffer in any way from external or internal pain, to the testimony of those who have been cured by using Lightning Linament.

Wm. A. Throop, of Detroit, says nothing but Spaulding's Lighning Linament ever did him any good.

Len. I. Clark, formerly of Howard House, Detroit, says it has done wonders for him.

Chas. Redfield, Adrian, Mich, says it cured his daughter, who has suffered years with Rheumatism.

Wm. C. Gustine, Grand Rapids, Mich., says he has been a chronic sufferer from inflammatory Rheumatism in his knees and feet for ten years, and nothing but Spaulding's Lightning Linament ever did him good.

Mr. F. P. Way, Printer, Detroit, says his wife, (who had not been able to walk across the room for months) after using a few bottles of Linament, walked about quite comfortably.

☞ The Linament is now for sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per bottle, only one size.

The only Medicines that have Ever Been Known to Positively Cure Consumtion.

Testimony of Hon. Jos. E. Gary, Judge of the Superior Court, Chicago, Ill.:

CHICAGO, Dec. 14, 1876.—DR. S. D. HOWE—Dear Sir: Permit me to add my grateful testimony to the army of witnesses to the virtues of your justly celebrated Arabian remedies. For a long time my wife was seriously afflicted with with a hacking cough, oppressed breathing, soreness of the chest, and constant acute pain in the lower portion of the right lung and under the shoulder blade. Her sufferings were intense, and she became extremely nervous and prostrated. Her disease was pronounced consumption by the physicians of Chicago and other cities. When you visited Chicago in June, 1873, we called on you, having very little hope of deriving help from your treatment. We were inspired by the skillful manner in which your thorough examination was conducted, and the satisfactory explanation with which you closed your diagnosis. My wife determined to take your medicines in accordance with your plain and practical directions. She began to use the Arabian Milk-Cure and Arabian Tonic; their beneficial effect at once became manifest the cough loosened and soon ceased, respiration became easy, the soreness of the chest was relieved and all pain removed, she began to gain in flesh and improve in strength and appearance. I fully believe that your medicines and skillful advice have saved the life of my wife. She unites with me in this grateful tribute to the mer it of your remedies. Very respectfully yours,

JOSEPH E GARY.

CHAUTAUQUA.

Where eastward trend our mighty lakes
E'er Erie through Niagra breaks,
Chautauqua sits her hills among—
Chautauqua story-said and sung.
Nor classic fame nor ruins hoary—
Lend glamour to Chautauqua's story;
But on her shores a spell was set
Sume summers since and deepens yet!
A spell of many tissues wrought—
From earth and heaven alternate brought;
Wisdom and wit and wealth from earth,
And graces of celestial birth.
Of any sweeter, stronger spell—
I know no legend that can tell—
Of all the lakes beneath the sun,
Save only that thrice-hallowed one—
Whose name I speak with rev'rent breath—
And throbbing heart—Gennesareth!
Chautauqua's work of crescent fame,
Would have, to-day, no life, no name,
Had not the Christ wrought his before,
On blue Gennesareth's wave and shore.
Deep in his miracles there lay
The germs of sacred toils to-day,
That make Chautauqua's annals glow
With beams from heaven for earth below.

RUN UP THE OLD FLAG.

Tune—The Old Oaken Bucket.

Run up the Old Flag, as renowned in story,
For it marked where our fathers stood firm in the fight,
Where they covered its folds with the prestige of glory,
While they routed their foes in disastrous flight.
Our Country in danger, again we defend her;
Now beat the long-roll for her patriot men;
Write on the Old Flag, "We will never surrender":
With Garfield and Arthur, have at them again.

Run up the Old Flag. The foe is before us—
The same old State-Rights and Secession crew;
By the stars of its folds, and the stripes waving o'er us,
We will bury them deep, with their Hancocker too!
Bring the boys to the front who have carried our banner
Where the field was death-strewn with our Country's brave men;
But they stood tried and true by the side of the Tanner:
Now with Garfield and Arthur we face them again.

From the field and the shop let each patriot rally;
Write Nation in votes with a very big N;
Send the Hancock-er crew up the Salt River valley,
And the English-man too, for his usury sin!
The bayonet bought it, the ballot sustained it—
Free speech North and South—fair play for the men
Who were true to the Flag when Secession defamed it:
With Garfield and Arthur, strike for them again.

Run up the Old Flag that our fathers defended,
That our mothers upheld with their prayers and their tears,
That our sisters with garlands of beauty have blended,
Grown dear to the heart with the flight of the years.
No traitorous hand shall its Union dissever,
Or wrest from its folds one bright star, for the men
Who have stood hitherto will defend it forever:
With Garfield and Arthur we'll save it again.

OUR COW.

Showing That She is by no Means the Docile, Unassuming Animal She Sets Up to Be.

It was agreed, as we lived in the country, that a cow was necessary. What is home without a bovine, especially if no milkman's morning bell resounds in the neighborhood? It was also agreed that our cow should be a genuine country cow, one that had not the deceitful ways of the city animal who generally gives skim milk; so our cow was bought sixty miles away and appropriately enough she took steer-age passage in a steamer to get here. The wharf is about a quarter of a mile from the house andIstood there with two or three of my neighbors who had kindly offered to help me home with the cow. As the steamer rounded to, I noticed that the cow had the whole lower deck to herself and that there were guy ropes from every tie-able portion of her to stationery articles on board.

The passengers on the upper deck had a pleased expectant look on their faces as if there was something enjoyable ahead. When the gangway plank was run out the deckhands seemed reluctant to interfere with the cow. The captain came down the for'ard stairs and shouted:

"Let go her head line, slack up aft."

"Aye, aye, sir," cried the sailors, and the command was obeyed.

"Get a line out in front."

One of the sailors took the original farm rope that was around her horns and got on the dock.

All the other lines were now removed, and as the cow began to look steadily at the fellow out on the wharf, pulling on the rope, he began to tremble.

"Port her a little, and send her for'ard," said the captain.

"Port it is, sir," answered one of the hands as he approached the animal with a club to induce her to port.

Our cow had stood like a statue all the while, glaring at the man on the wharf. Now she made one wild wave of her horns in the direction of the club person. He rapidly tumbled over two barrels, and sprang on a dry goods box, while the cow stood triumphant over the club.

A murmur of approbation came from the passengers, who were peering down the stairways, while the boldest were perched up on inaccessible articles of freight.

"Can I be of any service?" I mildly asked the captain.

"Well, yes," said he. "If you could go and get a good servicable coroner, you would do us a favor, I think we'll need one."

Meanwhile the passengers were showing how the cow could easily be got out, but none of them came down to put their theories into practice.

"Make fast your head line," called the captain to the man on the wharf. He gave the rope a couple rapid turns around a projecting timber.

"Now, all hands aft," was the next command and the boys gathered around in the rear of the cow.

"All together, now," was the cry, and a dozen men gently shoved the reluctant cow shorewards, while the wharf man shortened the rope around the timber.

Our cow resolutely planted her four hoofs down and hung back, but the combined force of the crew was too much for her, and she slid along down the plank amid the cheers of the passengers. Suddenly she changed her mind and made a spring to the end of her rope. The wild grappling of the pushers as they went down with the most astonishing unanimity brought forth the heartfelt applause of the discriminating audience.

By this time the captain was on the upper deck ringing the boat ahead, and I could see the passengers around him coaxing him to stay and let them watch the cow sacrifice those of us that were left on the dock.

One of my near neighbors, a big, powerful young man, said that he would take home the cow for me, that steamboat men did not understand how to treat cattle anyhow, and he proceeded to unwind the rope from the timber. The wharf, however, seemed to suit the cow exactly, and she refused to budge. We tried to shove her along as the steamboat men had done, but it was too big a contract. At last one of the men brought a pitchfork, and while the rope man got ready for a tornado, he touched up the cow. It was a brilliant success. Man and cow disappeared up the road in a whirlwind of dust. Everybody along the route thought it was a runaway; the women shrieked and the men climbed fences. We never expected to see either cow or man again. He, however, understood his business. He let the infuriated animal drag him along until he reached the open gate, and then with one wild bound he sprang ahead and gave the rope a turn around the starboard gate post. The way that cow came round was amazing. She described a semi circle very much quicker than Euclid could have done it. She lay there in a heap panting, and evidently wondering how it all came about.

"There's your cow," said my friend, covered with dust and triumph, as he closed the gate and flung the rope over her prostrate form, "she may be somewhat out of repair, but she's there."

The neighbors leaned over the fence and told me what they would do if they had a cow like that. The cow suddenly sprang to her feet again and we all scattered a little. Then she ran up and down like a roaring lion seeking a part of the fence to get over and in less than five minutes tried to jump the fence a dozen time, all the while the rope trailed behind like a comet's tail.

We didn't milk her that evening. Next morning I suggested that we might get one of the neighbors to come and milk the cow, but my father laughed at me and said that the cow would be quiet enough by this time, and that any cow was all right if you knew how to treat her.

I said I was willing to stand treat in any way, but I preferred to have somebody else milk the cow.

Again I was laughed down, and was just simpleton enough to take a pail and sally forth. Our cow stood at the very remotest corner of the field. I cried "co'boss, co' boss, co'boss," but she wouldn't "co'." She didn't seem to understand the phrase which I had been taught to believe all cows comprehended. Finding that I was making myself ridiculous without bringing the cow any nearer I started towards her. I will do her the justice to say that she met me half way, but luckily I had got over the fence in the meantime. I tried to explain to her that it was utterly senseless to act in this manner. The process of milking had to be gone through, however disagreeable it was to some [illegible] It seemed as if I had convinced the animal, but the moment I went to get on her side of the fence her convictions appeard to set the other way. I oozed along my side of the fence as quietly as I could, conversing all the while in a conciliatory tone with the cow, but she steadily faced me until we were nearly opposite the house, and I began to realize that I was about to be cut off from home and family if I couldn't get rid of this cow. A brilliant idea struck me. I would get hold of the long rope that trailed behind. I climbed the fence with as little ostentation as I could and made a dash for the rope and got it. I then appreciated the conundrum, "If you had hold of a tiger's tail, would you hold on, or let go?" After the waltz had lasted a few minutes I concluded to let go, and made a break for the house, the cow making a very good second. If the kitchen door had not been open I suppose I would be looking after my insurance money instead of writing this. As it was I went clear through the kitchen into the dining-room and fell over three chairs and part of a table. My wife was excessively annoyed. She said she had been trying to get the baby asleep for the last half hour and that if I thought that way of acting was anyway funny I might take the furniture out doors and play circus out there.

"My dear," said I pathetically, "if you knew that I have just escaped from the jaws—or rather the horns—of death, you would not talk in that unfeeling manner."

Then she told me to put the pail of milk n the celler and she would attend to it in a few moments. This was the unkindest cut of all.

"It would take," said I severely, "a man in complete triple plated steel armor to milk that cow."

"And have you been out all this time and never milked the cow?"

"It is not a question of time, Mrs. Sharp; it is a question of whether garments are strong enough to resist those horns."

And then she made the same remark that had previously been given, that anybody could manage a cow, and I invited her out to give a practical illustration of the truth thereof. The cow was quietly standing a few rods away, and while I provided myself with an ax handle my wife calmly approached the statuesque cow, saying soothingly, "So bossy; poor bossy; so-o-o bossy."

The cow gazed in astonishment at the new element in the problem, and it struck me that the brute would just be deceitful enough to act kind of civilized like. But my fears were unfounded.

"See how docile she is."

"Don't 'holler' before you are out of the woods," said I.

"What's that?"

I said it might perhaps be preferable to postpone all congratulatory remarks until we had emerged from the forest primeval.

"Oh, I understand."

Just then the docile animal gave one short bellow and made one short jump forward.

When I entered the house my wife breathlessly remarked that it was perhaps better to get a neighbor, and I rather self-complacently replied that I said all along that the sacrifice of a neighbor would be necessary. So I went and told a neighbor that it was some time since I had milked a cow, and that I was somewhat out of practice, and if he would kindly come over, etc., etc. And he kindly came. I went into the house and congratulated myself on getting that cow milked. In a few minutes my wife said a man wanted to speak to me outside. I went out and found it was our neighbor—he was on the other side of the fence.

"The pail," said he, "is at the upper end of the field. The cow is taking care of it. You can never milk that cow until the rope is taken off her horns. It hurts her mow and makes her wild." And then after reflecting for a few moments he added slowly, "I suppose you can get some one to take off the rope for $15 or $20." I shall always be proud of the fact that I took off that rope myself. I consider the feat a triumph of modern engineering. This is how it was done:

There is an ancient pear tree on the place that came originally from France, or the least the seed did, and it has stood at storms of a century, and cares no more for a modern cow than it does for the idle wind that it regards not. As the cow was grazing in the grateful shade of the tree I stole up discreetly, keeping the trunk of the tree between myself and the quadruped. I secured the rope and unobtrusively tied it around the trunk of the tree. I then made myself visible, and the cow at once took after me. She wound the rope round and round the tree, and each time her circle of travel narrowed until the side of her face was close up against the rough bark of the tree. She pressed eagerly forward, but the more she pressed the tighter fix she found herself in. With a sharp knife I cut the rope above her forehead and then ran for all I was worth. I escaped, although her nigh horn took off part of the door jamb. The rope was the secret of the trouble, however, and since then you could not wish for a milder animal than Our Cow.

When young people leave their homes and go among strangers to obtain an education, they need friends; and if they find them not among the good and the pure, they will find them in the lowest grades of society and be led to ruin.

Chautauqua Lake is swarming with school ma'ams, and it's a caution to see them climb trees and swing in the hammocks, just as if they didn't have to maintain their dignity and scare small boys two-thirds of the year.

Bishop Coxe, in a recently published paper, speaks of persons who, with jeweled fingers, will give ten cents to foreign missions and then sing:

"Love so amazing, so divine,
Demands my heart, my life, my all."

The Churchman fears that the bishop has put the sum contributed too high.

Jewell—"When Wade Hampton hobbled to the platform on his crutches and pledged to Hancock 'a solid south,' that meant business, and it resolves itself into the question, 'Shall a solid south or a solid north rule in the ensuing four years?' I am very greatly encouraged, and believe, as I said before, that we will whip them again."

The second thought has come; hero worship is forgotten; the men at the heads of the tickets are mere ornaments; the battle array is between the parties, and the issues are party principles.

The Democratic party proposes to attempt to elect Gen. Hancock by shouting for his Republican record and services. Every Democratic stump-speaker will ask the people to consider how gallantly he fought for the Republican Union cause; how much he contributed toward crushing the Democratic party on the battle-field, and giving the government into the hands of the Republican party for a period of twenty years.

There is always rejoicing over every new broom when the housewife has been using an old "scrub" for some time. But every man knows how soon the "new" wears off and the cry is made sor another. The Democracy felt samething like the housewife when they took up Hancock, feeling that they were going to sweep everything into the Democratic pile. But they have found another broom sweeping, and it has a longer and better brush and sweeps much clean[illegible] Frequently the Democracy gathers up a Greenbacker who formerly belonged to the Bourbon pile; but we have yet to learn of a single instance of a genuine Republican who was captivated by the Greenback heresy being gathered up with the Hancock broom.

The Weekly Capital and the Evening Times, of Columbus, Ohio, formerly Democratic papers, have taken down the names of Hancock and English and will hereafter support Garfield and Arthur. The Democrats are now left without a paper in that city.

SUMMER'S HEAT— Relaxes the system and renders us liable to attacks of diarrhœa, dysentery, bloody-flux, cholera-morbus, cramps in stomach, colic, and other painful and dangerous affections for which Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed—compounded from the best French brandy, Jamaica ginger, smart-weed, or water-pepper, anodyne, soothing and healing gums and balsams, is a most potent specific. It is equally efficacious in breaking up colds, fevers, and inflammatory attacks. Every household should be supplied with it. Fifty cents by druggists.

Secretary Thompsom opened the campaign in Indiana, last night at Terre Haute, in a two-hours' speech to a large and enthusiastic audience. He was escorted to the hall by the Garfield Club, 1,000 strong, bearing torches. A strong point in his speech was the declaration that "the right of every citizen to vote at the National election would be maintained, if necessary by all the power of the government, supported if need be by the army and navy." He said "the President would be equal to any emergency in the protection of citizenship, high or low, rich or poor." He closed with an eloquent tribute to General Garfield.

For the benefit of all sufferers, be good enough to bring the wonderful effect of St. Jacobs Oil before the public. For twelve long years my wife suffered with Neuralgia in the head, and often had the most terrible pains. A few weeks ago I bought a bottle of that wonderful remedy—St. Jacobs Oil—and am perfectly astonished at its marvellous effect; half a bottle thoroughly cured my wife. I gladly would have paid any physicians fifty dollars if he could have done the same; therefore I with that everybody may learn to value this true medicine.

CHRISTIAN HANNI, YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.

Dr. Tanner fasted forty days. When the hour completing the fast struck, he dug his hand into the waiting watermelon. What work, then, think you, would the Democratic party, which has been fasting for twenty years, be up to if it should get the watermelon—which they will not—this year?

GUILTY OF WRONG.

Some people have a fashion of confusing excellent remedies with the large mass of "pattent medicines," and in this they are guilty of a wrong. There are some advertised remedies fully worth all that is asked for them, and one at least we know of—Hop Bitters. The writer has had occasion to use the Bitters in just such a climate as we have most of the year in Bay City, and has always found them to be first-class and reliable, doing all that is claimed for them.—Tribune.

A REMARKABLE CURE OF KIDNEY TROUBLES.

HIGATE, VT., Nov. 1.

GENTLEMEN.—It is with grateful heart that I can recommend the Kidney-Wort to any one suffering, as I have been, from Piles and Kidney troubles, especially the Gravel. I was taken with these complaints while in the army in 1863; growing worse and finding no relief in the hospital, I was discharged from service. I sought the best medical advice; tried various patent medicines, and spent more than five hundred dollars in the fruitless effort to obtain relief. I continued to grow worse, and for about three years no urine passed from me except by the use of the catheter. For more than two years I was unable to walk, and confined to my bed most of the time. The pain, yea, the agony that I endured, no pen can describe. In this condition, a neighbor urged me to try the Kidney-Wort. Feeling that if it killed me it would prove a merciful relief from suffering, I commenced its use, and, strange as it may seem, after having used about three packages, I was relieved of all appearances of disease and able to attend to my usual work. This was a year ago last June, and since that time I have had no return of my old complaints.

URAL Bundy.

For Thirty Years.

For thirty years Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has been kept for sale by druggists generally, and in all that time there has not been a single complaint made, but on the contrary the druggists and the people acknowledge it to be the best remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption; Bronchits, Asthma, and all lung Diseases. 845 1 yr.

Don't forget to ask your grocer for the fever and ague cure, Reed's Gilt Edge Tonic.

Those people whose hair is turning gray should use Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer to restore it to its natural color and vigor.

Luther used to say that there were men who stood staring at the truth like cows at a new gate. How often is this verified in these days, in the stolidity with which people regard the temperance reform, and especially in their inability to comprehend its claims upon them as members of society, the church, and the State.

Two sons of Sir William Gladstone have been elected to Parliament—Herbert and William. During his entire candidacy in Middlesex, his sister Mary kept him company, attending all the meetings.

As to those who take comfort in the statistics of the Churches, showing what they have done and what they are doing, how they are extending their work and how they are making headway against the world, the flesh and the devil, Dr. Boynton assures them that they are misleading, and that "the published statments of membership far exceed their actual working strength; and even were their strength all they claim, their power to produce and extend a Christian civilization can not be measured by the character of their teachings and their moral and spiritual condition." This deprives those who comfort themselves with the statistics to be found in church almanacs and organs of a great consolation, and should put them to studying the causes of the decline which is so manifest to Dr. Boynton.

Old, Tried, and True.

Remember Dr Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla is not a new, untried compound. It has stood the test of forty years' use, and has proven itself to to the best vegetable compound ever discovered for curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, skin and blood diseases, liver complaints, urinary troubles, etc. 845. 1 yr.

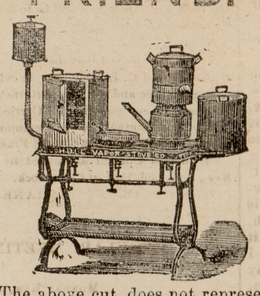
HouseholD FRIEND.



The above cut does not represent the "House that Jack Built," but shows what some active Yankee genious has brought about to ameliorate the hard lot of the overheated housewife or kitchen maid. It needs but little intelligence to see that it is a Gasoline Stove. To be appreciated it needs to be used but a very few days. For facility of operation, for comfort to the operator, and for light draft on the family exchequer, there is no other stove fit to be named the same day in comparison with it. A few were put into use last season, and created a perfect enthusiasm in the minds and hearts of the women who were fortunate enough to have husbands who were thus mindful of their comfort. We would refer to them here but those gentle ladies might be frightened to see their names in print. We have a full lire of the stoves for sale on

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

The most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister.

FROM

REV. P. N. GRANGER,

Presiding Elder of the St. Alban's District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. J. B. KENDALL & Co., Gents: My experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring bone was forming. I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure, and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Resdectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Office U. S. Marshall, Western Dist. of Mich. Kalamazoo, Apail 15th, 1879.

I received the two bottles of your spavin cure forwarded by express in January last. I am happy to state that it performed all your advertisement called for. In three weeks after I commenced using it the spavin was entirely removed and a valuable horse restored to usefulness.

Verry truly yours, JOHN PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE

Is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, and yet it is penetrating, and powerful to reach any deep seated pain, or to remove any bony growth or any other enlargement if used for several days, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a linament is used on man or beast. It is known to be the best linament for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated circular. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success, to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $.100 per bottle, or six bottles for $5.

KIDNEY-WORT

The Only Remedy
THAT ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON
THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

This combined action gives it wonderful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick?

Because we allow these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT WILL CURE

BILIOUSNESS, PILES, CONSTIPATION, KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, URINARY DISEASES, FEMALE WEAKNESSES, AND NERVOUS DISORDERS, by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power to throw off disease.

Why Suffer Bilious pains and aches?
Why tormented with Piles, Constipation?
Why frightened over disordered Kidneys?
Why endure nervous or sick headaches?
Why have sleepless nights?

Use KIDNEY WORT and rejoice in health. It is a dry, vegetable compound and One package will make six qts of Medicine. Get it of your Druggist, he will order it for you. Price, $1.00.

Ague Cure

Is a purely vegetable bitter and powerful tonic, and is warranted a speedy and certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and all malarial disorders. In miasmatic districts, the rapid pulse, coated tongue, thirst, lassitude, loss of appetite, pain in the back and loins, and coldness of the spine and extremities, are only premonitions of severer symptoms which terminate in the ague paroxysm, succeeded by high fever and profuse perspiration.

It is a startling fact, that quinine, arsenic, and other poisonous minerals form the basis of most of the "Fever and Ague Preparations," "Specifics," "Syrups," and "Tonics," in the market. The preparations made from these mineral poisons, although they are palatable, and may break the chill, do not cure, but leave the malarial and their own drug poison in the system, producing quinism, dizziness, ringing in the ears, headache, vertigo, and other disorders more formidable than the disease they were intended to cure. AYER'S AGUE CURE thoroughly eradicates these noxious poisons from the system, and always cures the severest cases. It contains no quinine, mineral, or any thing that could injure the most delicate patient; and its crowning excellence, above its certainty to cure, is that it leaves the system as free from disease as before the attack.

For Liver Complaints, AYER'S AGUE CURE, by direct action on the liver and biliary apparatus, drives out the poisons which produce these complaints, and stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

We warrant it when taken according to directions.
